● Course outline

Designed for professionals who work with English as a foreign language and wish to advance their communication skills, this course focuses on the use of interpreting skills to facilitate advanced communication between any language and English. Mastering interpreting takes time but this course will introduce you to a number of subskills required to carry out this activity and which are transferable to a whole range of professional circumstances that you may encounter. Our groups never exceed sixteen so that you can benefit from a range of high calibre inputs as well as individualised feedback.

Our trainers are based in a dedicated professional interpreting studio and supported by a technical team during the entire webinar.

● Course content

Active listening & memory exercises

At the initial stage of training, it is useful to break down the interpreting activity into discrete subskills. In this session you will focus on practising the type of listening required for interpreting as well as training your memory, both essential subskills not only for interpreting but also for all professional communication.

Introduction to note-taking / Note taking for interpreting

Interpreters use a specific system to take notes. In this session, participants will learn the basics of interpreting note taking skills and practise them. You will develop a note-taking system that will come handy for professional activities such as minute taking or ad hoc interpreting.

Presentation skills and Public speaking

Bearing in mind that interpreters are required to express themselves with ease for the benefit of their audience, expert trainer(s) will provide participants with tricks of the trade in this area. In this session, you will focus on your ability to express ideas fluently in English as well as quality of delivery in the appropriate register(s).

We will provide you with a certificate of attendance so that you can validate the training as CPD.
